Thought for the Week:

"What does the poor man do at the rich man's door, the sick man in the presence of his physician, the thirsty man at a limpid stream? What they do, I do before the Eucharistic God. I pray. I adore. I love."
 -St. Francis

Reflection

Reflection on Holy Father message in Rio

Pope Francis has decided to speak to the youth without forgetting the elderly. A youth is at the beginning of one's journey, at the beginning of one's journey as well... A new one and the most difficult one. Pope Francis wants to draw our attention to the fact the we must take care of they youth but also the elderly, both are important, both deserve it.

During a speech Pope Francis reaffirmed his desire to meet with "young people coming from all over the world, drawn to the open arms of Christ the Redeemer." He expressed his confidence in young people, noting that "there is no force more powerful than the one released from the hearts of young people when they have been conquered by the experience of friendship with Him."

"Christ has confidence in young people and entrusts them with the very future of his mission, 'Go and make disciples'," he said, adding a call to "go beyond the confines of what is humanly possible and create a world of brothers and sisters!" Because young people "are the window through which the future enters the world." This meant confronting many challenges to society, Pope Francis went on, before listing what is effectively a policy agenda for any society wanting to invest in the next generation.

Every pope needs to put a distinctive stamp on World Youth Days. Pope Francis's, Father Lombardi made clear at last night's press briefing, was to include the elderly - a theme which he previewed recently in an address at the Basilica of St. Mary Major in Rome two days before leaving for Rio. In his five-minute overview for reporters on the papal plane, Francis said he wants to reach out to youth on this trip but as part of the broader "social fabric." In particular, he said, he wanted to emphasize concern for elderly people, too, who just as often fall victim to a "throw-away culture."

"Many times, I think we do an injustice to the elderly by setting them aside," Francis said, "as if they don't have anything to give us. But they can give us the wisdom of life, the wisdom of the past, the wisdom of our country and our family. We need this. So, I'm going [to Brazil] to meet the youth, yes, but within their social fabric, principally with the elderly," he said.
