Thought for the Week

Do you wish to rise? Begin by descending. You plan a tower that will pierce the clouds? Lay first the foundation of humility.
 - St. Augustine

Candle intentions for the week for No: 225

Reflection

A French author said that hypocrisy is the tribute that vice pays to virtue. Today it is frequently the tribute that virtue pays to vice. This is shown, in fact, especially among youth, who show themselves worse and more shameless than they are, so as not to appear less than others.

A practical conclusion, valid as much in the traditional interpretation alluded to at the beginning, as in the development given here, is this one: Very few -- perhaps no one -- are always in the role of the Pharisee or always in the role of the publican, that is, righteous in everything or sinners in everything. Most of us have a little of both in us. The worst thing would be to act like the publican in our daily lives and like the Pharisee in church. The publicans were sinners, men without scruple, who put money and business above everything else. The Pharisees, on the contrary, were, very austere and attentive to the law in their daily lives. We thus seem like the publican in daily life and the Pharisee in the temple, if, like the publican we are sinners, and like the Pharisee, we believe ourselves just.

Open to me the gates of repentance, O Giver of Life,
 For my spirit rises early to pray towards thy holy temple.

Bearing the temple of my body all defiled;
 But in Thy compassion, purify me by the loving kindness of Thy mercy.

Lead me on the paths of salvation, O Mother of God,
 For I have profaned my soul with shameful sins,
 and have wasted my life in laziness.

But by your intercessions, deliver me from all impurity. When I think of the many evil things I have done, wretch that I am,
 I tremble at the fearful day of judgement.
 But trusting in Thy living kindness, like David I cry to Thee:

Have mercy on me, O God, according to Thy great mercy.
